A council to study and combat the use of dangerous drugs in Canyon has been formed this week primarily through the efforts of a local resident.

The council, which is made up of 11 citizens from every phase of Canyon life, will have its first organizational meeting at 4 p.m. today in the Randall County commissioners' courtroom.

Jim Killingsworth, a local insurance agent, organized the council, which will focus its attention on drug abuse, its ramifications and how it can be fought.

Aim, goals and means of the council will be formulated at today's meeting, Killingsworth said.

"The idea to form the council has been brewing in my mind about two months," Killingsworth said. "I got the idea from some of the people I've observed and some of the things I've observed."

His original idea was to get people of the Canyon community involved in fighting drug abuse, which according to police records exists in the city.

"I think people have a tendency to sit around in their easy chairs and go 'tish, tish,'" he said. "I want to get people involved."

Killingsworth said he believes many people in the community would like to do something to fight drug abuse here, but don't know how to accomplish it.

"This council will give them some kind of a handle to hold onto," he said.

Killingsworth said probable avenues for combating drug use would be education of not only students, but the general public on the dangers of drugs, support of local law enforcement agencies, support of legislation concerning drugs and training of youth through churches.

He said he feels the council approach will work here because it involves the many aspects of the community.

"If we're going to be effective, we're going to have to be felt," he said. "One or two people can't handle it."

Killingsworth said if the Canyon council can produce a good plan for combating drug abuse, it will be glad to share the plan with other communities.

To accomplish whatever goals it may set, the council has access to educational materials through various state and federal agencies, Killingsworth said. In addition, the council will be open to any suggestions from the community.

Participants on the council include Carroll Killingsworth, counselor at the High School; Jerry Landrum, student body president at Canyon High; Weldon Trice, assistant dean of student life at West Texas State University; Gary Cook, president of the WTSU student body; Rhett Plank, a local attorney; Dr. Dudley Moore, a local physician; Dr. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Calvin Costley, chief of police; L. S. "Slim" Johnston, sheriff of Randall County; Killingsworth and Carroll Wilson, news editor of the Canyon News.

Flags Wave, Film Seen M-Day

BY PAUL BASCUS

Wednesday's moratorium to seek peace in Vietnam was acknowledged by about 600 students at West Texas State University who packed the ballroom at the Student Union Building to view a film entitled "Last Reflections on a War."

At Canyon High School "16 or 17" students showed up for classes wearing either black arm bands signifying anti-war sentiments or red arm bands in support of present policy in Vietnam, according to Lee Ash, assistant principal.

Ash said the students were given the choice of removing the arm bands and returning to class or picking up their books and going home. He said about "9 or 10" chose to go home.

Of the WT students who saw the film, only a handful sported black arm bands.

The 44-minute film was based on movies and tape recordings of the late Bernard B. Fall, a scholar on Southeast Asia and the presentation supported the view that the South Vietnamese don't want American troops there and that the United States should withdraw and cease military action in South Vietnam.

Overall everything was peaceful in Canyon with those in favor of present Vietnam policy and those opposed "doing their thing" quietly.

While the film was being shown on the WT campus and the high school students were being given a choice on being politically demonstrative, American flags were being flown in front of virtually every business around the square in downtown Canyon.

Dr. Darrell Munsell and Peter L. Petersen of the university history department, said the film was sponsored by a group of students and faculty members.

"I wouldn't call the film a protest, though some might," Dr. Munsell said. "It is being shown to support a day of inquiry into the Vietnam war. It is meant to provoke meditation. It is the type of film that will make people think seriously."

He said he knew of no planned demonstrations or protests. Several classes were excused so that the students could see the presentation and at least one class was required by the instructor to see the film.

A large, black peace symbol was painted some time during Tuesday night on a large sign in front of the Reserve Officer Training Corps classroom building.

Lt. Col. Billy R. Smith, professor of military science, said the sign was checked about 11 p.m. Tuesday and was painted after that.

The sign, which is about 10 feet wide and six feet high, has color insignia of three military combat arms.

The colonel said the peace symbol cannot be removed from the sign without repainting the sign.

"It's depressing to me that this moratorium is happening," Col. Smith said, "because our men are dying in Vietnam to-

With Short Buff Squad, Coach Sees Even Season

With the lack of a tall man staring him in the face, Head Basketball Coach Dennis Walling of West Texas State University says he will consider it a good season if his Buffaloes can muster a 13-13 record.

The loss of big Simmie Hill, a 6-6 inside man who averaged 23.7 points per game last season, coupled with the losses of four other lettermen has forced Walling this season to change his plan of offense and defense.

Last season, the Buffs finished 18-10 and played in the National Invitational Tournament in New York City where they fell in their opening tilt to Ohio.

The Buff squad posed for photographers and Walling made some candid remarks about his team Tuesday at WTSU.

The man on the inside (Hill) and the man on the outside (Mike Mitchell), both of whom could hit the baskets leave a gaping hole in the West Texas offense and defense.

Mitchell, who averaged 17.7 points per game last year, brought down 4.9 rebounds per game and Hill, an All-American, pulled down 11.3 rebounds per game.

Nevertheless, Walling says he's encouraged about his prospects.

"We have only 10 on the squad and eight can play," he said.

But, with the loss of his tall scorers, Walling says he's trying to figure where he can make up the difference their loss makes.

In doing so, the coaching staff has changed the Buff offense to what Walling calls a swing-and-go offense.

In the swing-and-go, the swing man is the key, and a tall man must be kept close to the basket.

Leading returning scorer James McCloud, 6-5, who averaged more than 14 points per game last year, will be swing man on the new offense. Gene Murdock would be on the weak forward position and the guard positions will be open to Dale Blaut, Ron Howle, David Cole and George Bailey.

The strength, Walling said, is in his guards, who although they are short, are quick and experienced.

If for some reason, the Buffs end up without a tall man, Murdock will switch to the post position, McCloud to the weak forward and Blaut to the swing.

On the defense, the guards' quickness will be felt by Buff opponents, as Walling will be utilizing a man-to-man full-court press this season.

While he has experience at the guard positions, Walling is worried about his tall men. With Richard Bacon at 6-7, John Burkhalter at 6-11, Eddie Fitzgerald at 6-7, Walling lacks experience admittedly.

But, he says he must work with his tall men, because they will be a vital part of the offense and defense when the Buffs go against a tall team.

Although he hasn't the material he had last year, Walling said this season's squad has better character and more determination.

"And character and determination can be 75 per cent of (See BASKETBALL, Page 5)

Bufs On Road Saturday To Take On CSU Rams

West Texas State University's Buffaloes take to the road this week in hopes of pushing their season record above the .500 mark.

The Buffalo gridders were edged by Dennis Shaw and company, 24-14, Saturday night in Buffalo Bowl and that was their second setback against a pair of wins.

Shaw and his San Diego State teammates rolled up 507 yards against the Buffs. The brilliant quarterback pitched for 350 yards and two touchdowns on 19 completions in 37 attempts.

While San Diego State was mainly a passing team, the Colorado State Rams will provide a more balanced attack this week for the Buffs. Sophomore running back Lawrence McCutcheon, a Plainview, Tex., athlete, has ripped off an average of 101 yards per game rushing this fall and has scored six times.

The Ram passing attack is handled by 6-6, 185-pound junior Chip Maxwell. He has completed 35 of 73 passes for 396 yards and four touchdowns. Only one of his passes has been intercepted.

Maxwell started against the Buffaloes last year after a pair of teammates had been injured. The Buffs won that clash, 22-17, by scoring a late touchdown.

The 195-pound McCutcheon is the leading rusher in the Western Athletic Conference, supporting a 6.5-yard per carry average.

Duane Thomas rushed for 42 yards against San Diego State to pace the Buffs in rushing and maintained his season lead over running back Olan Thompson.

Thomas has 254 yards for the year in 63 carries. Quarterback Clarence Redic maintained his passing consistency, hitting seven of 13 passes against San Diego State and took over the third position among the team's leading rushers. Redic has 35 completions in 65 attempts for 505 yards and has scrambled for 136 ground yards.

Redic is averaging 165.3 yards per game total offense. Olan Thompson leads the team in receiving, catching 12 for 141 yards and one score.

Tight end Willie Walker has eight receptions for 132 yards and flanker Robert Jackson has caught seven for 112 yards.

The Rams are coached by Mike Lude, who is in his eighth

Hard Freeze Hits; Forces Harvesting

Randall County and surrounding area was hit by the first hard freeze of the season Sunday night and, besides being somewhat earlier than usual it even preceded the fall's first frost, John Brazzil, county agent, said Monday.

The most significant result of the freeze will be the forced harvest of grain sorghum all at the same time--that time being almost immediately.

"The freeze stopped the late development of the dry land grain sorghum," Brazzil said. "There was quite a bit of new growth and a lot of green heads and all that was stopped. What it means is that these crops will have to be harvested in just a few days...just as soon as they dry out. If the weather clears up and it gets warm, of course, the crop will have to be harvested sooner. If it stays cold and wet, it'll take just a little bit longer."

"But everything harvestable will have to be harvested at once in just a few days. Everyone will be busy."

The county agent said the cotton crop would also be killed by the freeze "but it was all just about mature anyway."

He said the mature bolls would go ahead and open even though the plants were killed.

Brazzil said normally a frost will precede a "hard freeze" such as Sunday night's, but that (See FREEZE, Page 5)

Council To View City Sales Tax

City Commissioners will consider an ordinance tonight calling a special election this fall on whether city residents want a one-cent sales tax.

The tax election issue is listed on this week's agenda and was discussed briefly two weeks ago by commissioners.

At that time, Mayor Paul Lindsey instructed City Attorney Elton Cox to draw up a proposed ordinance and a calendar of events to be followed if the election is called.

Also on the agenda for today's 7 p.m. meeting is consideration of an ordinance regulating the city's dump grounds.

A sign notifying area residents that action will be taken to charge fees for dumping has been posted at the grounds and the ordinance will set the exact fee.

Two commissioners will be appointed to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. The city commissioners deferred action two weeks ago on the appointments because H. R. Fulton, councilman, was absent. The city has voted to join the planning entity along with Randall and Potter Counties and the City of Amarillo.

Consideration will be given tonight on the appointment of a Citizen's Advisory Committee.

Such a committee was discussed at the last meeting, and most commissioners agreed an advisory council is needed.

The council idea grew from discussion two weeks ago concerning the annexation of land to the north of Canyon by the city. It was proposed at that time that an advisory committee could study the annexation plan and make recommendations to city commissioners.

Commissioners are expected to make a final decision on a request by Gibson's Products of Canyon to lower their assessed valuation on their building, foyer and air conditioning.

David Davichik, manager of the local firm, appeared before the council two weeks ago and was told to return tonight with an appraisal from a qualified senior appraising firm.

The commission meets in the City Hall Annex.

Dean Hears First Court Jury Case

BY PAUL BASCUS

The first jury trial in the newly created 181st District Court was in the Randall County Courthouse here Tuesday.

It was a routine divorce case.

Asked how he felt after his first case on "the other side" of the bench the court's new Judge Don Dean said, "Relieved."

The court has criminal and civil jurisdiction in both Randall and Potter Counties, but no jury cases have been tried in Potter County yet.

Judge Dean said his first jury case went smoothly and that he had no problems in making rulings on motions and objections.

"It was pretty plain vanilla, but I enjoyed it," the judge said.

It was a full day for Judge Dean as he handled two guilty pleas in criminal cases and a default judgement during the lunch hour. The cases were transferred to 181st from 47th District Court.

Judge Dean will be back in Canyon next Wednesday and Thursday to handle all the non-jury cases originally set for 47th District Court on that day. Judge Gene Jordan of 47th District Court has transferred the cases to Judge Dean's court so that he can go to Claude to handle his Armstrong County docket.

"On Oct. 27th there will be two district courts holding jury trials in Randall County at the same time," Judge Dean said. "I'll be trying civil cases while Judge Jordan tries criminal cases."

Judge Jordan and 108th District Judge Mary Lou Robinson are now in the process of transferring some of their case load to the new court docket.

"Eventually we hope to have the cases evenly distributed among the three courts," Judge Dean said.

He said that since Judge Robinson's jurisdiction is confined to Potter County, she will get two new cases filed to every case that he and Judge Jordan get, while the two male judges will split the cases filed in Randall County evenly.

Judge Dean pointed out that since his appointment by Gov. Preston Smith on Oct. 7, there has been a district judge in Randall County every day and one day there were two holding court here.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

We usually do not answer letters to the editor in this column but because of the gravity of issues discussed we will make an exception in the case of a letter from John R. Greene which appears on this page.

Mr. Greene says there was nothing novel in Wednesday's moratorium.

This is true. Demonstrations have often been used to pressure governments.

They normally are employed by groups too small to make themselves felt through legal channels. Demonstrations of the kind we are seeing in the United States today preceded the rise to power of both Lenin in Russia and Adolf Hitler in Germany.

Mr. Greene says protests forced the resignation of a President. Presumably he means President Johnson's decision not to run for re-election.

President Johnson lost favor with the American people because he had no workable plan to solve our problems either at home or abroad. The American people, not the protesters, rejected Mr. Johnson.

If it were the protesters who forced Mr. Johnson's decision, why were they not able to make themselves felt through legal channels? Their candidate, Sen. Eugene McCarthy, didn't even get into the "also ran column."

Senator McCarthy exhausted every effort to win the nomination of his party and when he failed his backers took to the streets in the infamous Chicago orgy.

A government which will allow itself to be influenced by the mob has not long to live.

Deeper in his letter Mr. Greene says: "The issue of honor is one which I fear this country can no longer afford to consider."

If we do not consider honor in our dealings with other countries then we become a renegade, an outlaw among the nations of the world.

What would be the value of any treaty or international agreement we might make if we concede to Mr. Greene that honor is a luxury which this country can no longer afford?

Actually, President Nixon probably is moving just about as quickly as could be expected in the unfortunate Vietnam situation which he inherited from predecessors John F. Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, once the darlings of the very people sparking today's protests.

If he is strong enough to remain unswayed by the mob he may yet be able to bring us a solution to Vietnam.

I do not deny the right of those who protested Wednesday to do so but I grant them that right with the grim knowledge that every black arm band worn Wednesday cost a drop of American blood.

Hanoi must have been warmed by the sight of those arm bands. In fact, the rulers of North Vietnam expressed deep appreciation for the Wednesday moratorium.

Protesters well may undermine our government's efforts to make peace in Vietnam and thereby prolong the suffering of both Americans and Vietnamese.

I think we have learned some lessons from both Korea and Vietnam.

I believe we have vested too much power in the hands of the executive branch.

I realize that in these times a President must answer an immediate threat with urgency and it might be necessary for him to commit troops to answer that threat. However, I think it would be well for Congress to study the possibility of limiting the number of hours or days that troops may be committed without specific authority from the Congress itself through a declaration of war.

This would assure broad responsibility for such action and greater commitment from the American people who elect the Congress.

In the meantime, I appreciate Mr. Greene's letter and the opportunity to discuss with him in print these vital issues. The Canyon News and Sunday News welcomes all letters to the editor.

Faculty Violin Recital Slated

Donald Todd will present a faculty violin recital Sunday, October 26, at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building auditorium at West Texas State University.

Dr. Todd is presently in his third year of teaching violin and viola at WTSU and is concertmaster of the Amarillo Symphony.

Accompanying will be Bill Evans, an assistant professor of music at WT.

Included on the program will be music by Handel, Mozart, Saint-Saens and Beethoven.

Guests in the A. C. Haley, Jr. home over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Leveridge and Julianna of Noble, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haley of Fort Collins, Colorado; Mrs. W.E. Britain of Amarillo; and Mrs. Clyde Warwick of Canyon.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

Your editorial concerning the Wednesday moratorium posed several questions of interest to me. Will the moratorium have results based on rational intelligence? Can the moratorium help establish "peace with honor in Vietnam?" Why don't people protest the inhumanities of North Vietnam?

The first question is answered when one realizes that there is nothing novel about the Wednesday moratorium. It is simply an intensification of the protests that have gone on since the war was escalated under LBJ. A partial list of the results that these protests have had a hand in producing include the de-escalation of the war, the resignation of a President, the re-evaluation of the draft, the numerous bombing halts, etc.

Public opinion has also been affected by the efforts of these students who hold the war as a public issue continually before the public. The latest Gallup Poll indicated that 57% of the American people now want the United States out of Vietnam by next year. I believe that the politicalization of the Vietnam issue by these students has been a major factor in influencing this statistic. Whether the constant assessment, debate, and evaluation that has been stimulated through the student protest is a result of "rational intelligence" is best judged by its results. Two Presidents have been influenced by these actions of these students and that is as it should be.

The next question concerns whether the moratorium can help establish peace in Vietnam with honor. Those that suggest that only through victory can there be peace in Vietnam may be right. Nixon, in deed, if not in word, seems to have conceded that a military victory is neither possible nor desirable. Yet the forces within Vietnam are so alienated that a violent solution seems inevitable. If the moratorium can induce the United States to withdraw, as seems probable, then the "peace" we seek will eventually be worked out among the protagonists in their own civil war through a military solution. If Russia, China, or some other country wishes to interfere, let THEM incur the loss of money, the enmity of the people, and the burden of sustaining indefinite oriental corruption, and the charge, usually valid, of participating in imperialism. The issue of honor is one which I fear this country can no longer afford to consider. We have spent billions of dollars, seen the youth of this country extinguished by the thousands and we are no closer to "honor" than before. Honor does not and should not guide foreign policy, national interest does. Our national interest does not demand the endless loss of lives and money in a war that if won could only leave us with a piece of Asian property of dubious value and the responsibility of indefinitely propping up a dictator who jails his neutral opponents and whose regime has been a paragon of corruption. Honor should not bind us to those who are dishonorable. National interest would be a wiser guide and it would guide us home.

The last question, though simplistic, is nevertheless often asked. Why don't people protest the inhumanities of North Vietnam? I do. I protest the civilian terrorism of North Vietnam. But I also protest the Green Beret "white-wash" and the destruction of a village "to save it from the Communists." But more importantly, I realize that all of these reactions are attributable to the pressures of war and when you consider that the North Vietnamese are in THEIR country, fighting for THEIR form of government, not thousands of miles from home in someone else's country, then I believe they have been remarkably reserved. I cannot say the same for the United States.

The time has come for an intensification of the protest and the moratorium will offer an excellent opportunity for the nation to begin to do so.

Dear Sir:

I am a Vietnam veteran trying to make ends meet under the GI Bill. Allowances under the current law are woefully inadequate as both the cost of living and education have skyrocketed since the rates were set several years ago.

Senator Ralph Yarborough, who claims to be the veteran's friend, has been sitting on a House passed bill since August 5th to raise the rates by about 27%. He has publicly complained about the lack of participation of Vietnam veterans in the GI education program--and yet when he has a chance to do something about the biggest stumbling block standing in the way of greater participation, he does nothing.

Why doesn't Senator Yarborough get his committee together and act? He has already killed chances for our getting a raise during the first semester and hasn't shown much interest in getting help for us during the next.

I'm enclosing a recent editorial from Army Times which explains the problem in detail. I hope all Texas GI's will write Senator Yarborough and tell him to get with it! His inaction is disgusting.

Dear Troy:

Much harm and no good will come from the demonstrations expected on some campuses in some parts of the United States on the fifteenth of October. Peace negotiations with fanatical foes who do not value human lives, including the lives of their own people, are difficult; but these tragic expressions of American domestic disunity can serve only to diminish the bargaining power of our United States government in our search for peace with honor. In this age of modern electronic communications these manifestations will be known at once in Hanoi, Moscow, and Peking. Our free American way of life makes it very difficult to conceal our internal troubles from our external enemies. These protesters profess to seek peace, but the practical results of their activities will be to encourage the brutal intransigence of our enemies in Hanoi. This prolongs the war.

How can it help the interests of American higher education if the general public is given the impression that colleges and universities frequently are focal points of turmoil? This is a question to which our faculties and students should give calm and serious thought.

Those of us who live and work in comfort and security ten thousand miles from the combat zone have the moral obligation to try to match in our own conduct the high qualities of discipline and dedication to duty and country which are expected of our men and women in military service. Their labors and their sacrifices have been and will remain the vital ramparts of our American liberty and of our national survival.

Sincerely,

John Knapp Kahler

Our World

BY ANN BROWN
The mushrooming hippie communes manifest much behavior that no responsible civilization could condone. They are, however, registering protests against some of the complexities of our society that we would do well to heed.

Research has confirmed the obvious: Hippies are miserable, inadequate youngsters from unhappy homes--almost always broken ones. They usually come from small families; frequently they are only children.

First of all, hippies are searching for togetherness. They try to find some place where they belong, and are loved and wanted. In one dilapidated old mansion in Washington, D. C., a commune composed entirely of single boys and girls broke down all the partitions on the third floor to create a sleeping room where they could all be together.

A few communes, however, observe strict "marriage" lines, but freely share their food, drink, and drugs--even with their children.

The flower children, the most peaceful segment of this new sub-culture, are migrating in increasing numbers to rural communes. There they grow their own food, live in whatever shelters they can construct, and withdraw completely from the pressures of our society.

Births, without benefit of doctors, are not registered. Paternity of the children is kept secret (probably in many cases from the parents themselves); in this way they hope to avoid social security taxes and the draft. They have no objections, however, to welfare checks. (They enjoy spending taxes; it is paying taxes they want to avoid.)

Many of these conditions sound abhorrent to average Americans, but are they any worse than the circumstances which created them? With the divorce rate approaching 50%, there are millions of lonely, neglected children, whose parents are too busy fighting each other to manifest any real concern for their children's welfare. Dr. Vincent J. Fontana, chief of New York City's task force on child battering, and director of Pediatrics at St. Vincent's Hospital in the city, made this sad observation:

"If the true statistics were known, it is my belief that it would be shown that abuse and neglect are the leading causes of death in children, exceeding infections, cancer, and other diseases."

Unfortunately, parents usually bring up their own children by the same pattern they were reared. Many times the unhappy ones attempt to do the exact opposite. The mother who was not allowed to go out with boys until she was in her twenties, will force her own daughters into dating at 12. The father who had to do a man's work at the age of 5 will not allow his sons to work at all. Battered children, as a rule, beat their own children "only for their own good."

But all such parents are merely following the pattern of their own upbringing in being arbitrary and dictatorial instead of loving their children, and allowing them to grow up naturally.

Children from broken homes are twice as likely to be divorced as others. Not necessarily because they approve of divorce, but because they follow the same pattern of conduct that led to the disruption of their parental homes.

So, in spite of their many obvious defects, hippies are reviving a portion of the traditional American spirit: They prefer freedom and independence to security and regimentation. They had rather have less luxury and more leisure to enjoy family and friends.

Many pilgrims came to these shores to avoid the endless wars in Europe and Asia; why should their sons be sent back to die in them?

So, although we must reject most of the hippie philosophy, we should attempt to lower the pressures of our society, and return to wholesome family life before all Americans rebel.

Boy Scout Troop 130 spent the weekend on an overnight camp-out where they sharpened their skills and worked on activities toward the Camporee event coming up soon at Camp Don Harrington.

Some of the boys also worked on their cooking badges as well as the five-mile hike toward rank requirements.

Those attending the camp-out were Larry Byrd, Mike Hillman, Rusty Gollighugh, David Coronado, Greg Dodson, Mark Purcell, Kenny Basinger, and David Early.

Along with the group was scoutmaster, C. O. Hillman.

Bo Fowlkes celebrated his tenth birthday Saturday with a weiner roast held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fowlkes.

Games were played by the group of seventeen boys attending the affair with prizes being awarded to the winners of two games. They were Danny and David Glenn Roberts of Canyon.

Those attending and consuming stacks of hotdogs, canned soda, chips, corn chips, and cupcakes were Keith Burrows, David Hall, Donald Oliver, Mike Hayes, John Savenko, Steven Buckles, Todd Williams, Darrell Jackson, Billy Mayfield, Gary Phillips, David Roberts, Terry Mayfield, Ricky Cooper, Danny Roberts, Kevin Oliver, and Bo Fowlkes. Mothers helping serve the group were Mrs. Billy Mayfield and Mrs. Kenneth Ray Oliver.

Richard's home is with his grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Lusk of Panhandle.

Burl Bruce is recuperating at home after being released from Neblett Hospital where he was confined due to a possible heart attack week before last.

Fifteen Young People and Intermediates from the Hollywood Baptist Church came home from the Amarillo Association Youth Rally, held in Claude, Texas at the First Baptist Church, again winning the "Efficiency Banner" for percentage of the most youth from any church attending the rally.

A hotdog feast was served to the youth by the church in Claude before the groups returned home.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fowlkes were Alan Linthicum, Boy Scout Executive of Amarillo and Clarence Youngblood, Deputy Regional Scout Executive from Dallas.

The couple dropped by Thursday evening to inspect the progress of the Fowlkes' home under construction.

Brownie Scouts, Troop 8, held an outdoor day Saturday in spite of the cold winds.

The group set up their camp at Pitcher Pump site of Camp Kiwanis and braved the cold to do craft work which included making rings out of bright colored telephone wire. The girls also sang songs and played games before eating "nosebag" lunches. And of course, no outing is an outing without a nature hike.

Girls attending were Traci Bufkin, Lisa Baker, Debbie Belyeu, Danielle Byrd, Martha Cannon, Janice Dulaney, Diedra Carroll, Patsy Gaither, Pam Lichte, Sandra Mester, Rejeana Turner, Sherry Tyler, Carrie McMennamy, Pam Thrash, Kendra Wallace, and Belinda Curlee.

The Gene Howe Falcons broke their losing streak Sunday by downing Hamlet 40-0 in a game played at Southlawn Park in Amarillo.

Local Couple Visit Spain

Mr. and Mrs. John Dozier were among 185 persons that were guests of the Larson Industries on a trip to many points of interest in Portugal and Spain.

Dozier is with the Tri-State Marine Company of Amarillo and was honored with the trip due to the large volume of boats sold from the Larson line. This was the third such trip the Doziers have received from the company.

While on the two week trip, the group visited castles, cathedrals, palaces, museums, and the ancient city of Toledo just outside of Madrid, Spain where the famous artist El Greco was so inspired. The tour also included his home.

Mrs. Dozier commented on the fact that much fish, duck, and wine is served in these countries. In fact, fish is served with every meal in Portugal, including breakfast.

One of the highlights of the trip was when the Doziers met and visited for some time with the United States astronauts, Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin, and Mike Collins and their wives who were staying at the same hotel while both groups were in Madrid.

Mrs. Dozier said they were received cordially by the moon visitors, who are now on a world tour, and naturally collected autographs to bring to their children.

Members present were Mesdames Ed Cranmer, Harold Dillehay, Allen Downing, A. K. Goodman, Bill Head, Morris Henderson, B. L. Hufnagle, Meade Humphries, Gilbert Irlick, John Jennings, Jim Irlick, H. M. Stokes, Don McRoberts and Wire Wright.

season at CSU.

Working from the basic formation on offense, the Rams will have an easier job of putting the ball in the air or running.

The basic pro-40 alignment will be used on defense, and Lude feels he has the size and strength to make it work.

Even so, the Rams lack a certain amount of experience, a fact which has crippled the Bufs so far this season.

Lude says he has many junior college transfers and freshmen who before this season had never worked together.

He is also wary of the quarterback Maxwell, who started only two games last year. Experience is missing, too, at the center position.

Last season, the Bufs edged the Rams 22-17, tallying almost 400 yards rushing and passing compared to CSU's 308.

So far this season, the Rams stand 2-2. They have beaten Wichita State 50-21 and Utah State 37-33. They lost to Brigham Young 22-20 and Wyoming 39-3.

Freeze....

he was sure the early freeze this month was no record.

"It's usually late October before the first killing frost and it comes after temperatures have dropped gradually until they get down into the mid-thirties or so."

He said irrigated grain sorghum crops were hardly affected by the freeze, because it was all just about ready for cutting and much of it was already in.

bands by some students would have tended to cause disruption.

"It would be real hard for one opposed to a cause and someone else demonstrating he felt just the opposite to sit across from one another in class without something being said. It would just cause disturbance in the class," Jacobs said.

Ash said, "We took no position, either in support of the moratorium or against it. People have the right to believe what they want to believe."

"We felt the arm bands would be distracting and the students wearing them were told they could remove them and return to classes. I told them I would give them a slip excusing their tardiness and they could go on to class. I told them if they did not remove the arm bands they could just pick up their books and go home."

"There were about 16 or 17 of them, some wearing red arm-bands and some wearing black ones and about 9 or 10 of them chose to go home."

Ash said it was explained to the students that if they went home their absences would be unexcused, which results in some points being taken off their grades for the six-week period.

"Some thought they couldn't afford to have any points taken off their grades and went on back to class. Others must have felt like they could afford it and went home."

He said all of the students were very polite and that none demonstrated any belligerence. The assistant principal said he had received some telephone calls from parents but none of an unfriendly nature.

"What concerned us was that nothing happen to cause a disturbance at school," Ash said.

"The arm bands clearly were worn to attract attention and therefore would have been distracting to other students. That was the purpose of the arm band, to attract attention to the wearer so as to show where he stood."

Ash said all of those students who went home could come back to school at any time—as long as the arm bands stayed at home.

PT Course Spells Aches For ROTC Corps

"PT" in the U. S. Army is not the alphabetical designation of a certain type ship, as it is in the Navy.

In the Army, it's synonymous with sweat and aching muscles. It's the daily dozen, it's what the basic trainee pleads with his drill sergeant for more of when the sergeant shouts "What's the good word."

In the Army, it's more than initial. Initials are innocuous. "PT" is dropping for 20.

"PT", which stands for physical training, has come to West Texas State University's Reserve Officer Training Corps.

The Counter-Guerrilla unit in the department of military science has constructed a five-part physical training course west of the National Guard Armory in east Canyon.

The course is set up according to U. S. Army specifications. It includes five phases, which can be accomplished with minimum time and maximum effort.

Each of the phases or parts is timed and has a maximum score. Maximum score for each part is 100 points with a 500 top score.

Included in the course is a run-dodge-and-jump. The run-dodge-and-jump involves running four figure-eight patterns around stakes and jumping a wide trench.

Also included is a horizontal ladder, a track for the one-mile run, a 30-yard low crawl and a hand grenade throwing range.

Primary users of the PT course will be the Counter-Guerrilla unit, but junior ROTC cadets will also use it in preparation for advanced summer camp, which is held annually at Ft. Sill, Okla.

During the second semester of each year, the junior students in the department prepare for the six-week summer session. This year, for the first time, the physical training course will be part of that preparation.

Students will be given a physical training test at the end of the semester.

The course will be called Hero Field, according to Lt. Col. Billy R. Smith, professor of military science, in honor of soldiers commissioned at WTSU and killed in action at Vietnam. A sign will be erected on the field with the names of those killed placed on it.

Dedication ceremonies will be scheduled for the field at a later date, the colonel said. Col. Smith asked that anyone knowing the name of a soldier commissioned at WT and killed in Vietnam to contact Maj. James Lundy, department personnel officer on the campus.

the ball game," he said.

The Bufs' first game is against Hardin-Simmons at Abilene on Dec. 1.

Hardin-Simmons returns all its starters, from the team which Walling says last year cost the Bufs an NCAA play-off bid.

"We know they're outstanding and we know we've got to press," he said.

To get his team in shape, Walling began two-a-day practice sessions Wednesday in the fieldhouse. It is the first time two-a-days have been used for the basketballers at WT.

The two sessions daily will carry through until about two weeks prior to the first game.

County Residents Warned About TB

Randall County residents have been urged to support the 1969 Christmas Seal Campaign against tuberculosis, emphysema, and other respiratory diseases by president Bert Nuckols of the Top of Texas TB Association.

Nuckols warned that one American in six is infected with TB germs and "most of them don't know it."

Texas had over three thousand reported new cases of active TB in 1968, plus 412 relapses, according to Nuckols, who stated that TB causes over two million deaths per year throughout the world and that the United States has over three hundred thousand cases of TB under medical supervision now.

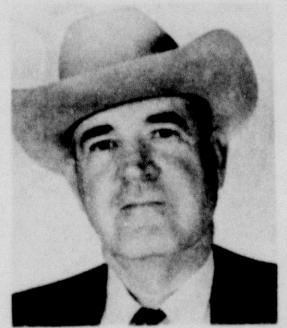

"The crying need in TB control is education," Nuckols said. "We are trying to educate people to the need for tuberculin skin tests as part of their physical examinations. The X-ray alone will not, and cannot, rule out TB infection.

"People sometimes have a false sense of security from a negative X-ray, when actually they may be loaded with TB germs that can become active at any time. Those people need to have a skin test to detect their infection, and the TB Association's medical men recommend they have a year of medication with INH pills to keep the dormant infection from becoming active."

Nuckols emphasized that the TB Association doesn't ask much money from anyone. "What we do ask is that everyone who can give a small amount to Christmas Seal Campaign so we can carry on our work against TB, emphysema, and other respiratory diseases."

"Buying and Selling Homes" will be the topic of a program by Larry Hooper at Tuesday's meeting of the Canyon Study Club.

The meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will be in the home of Mrs. Don Vars, 2414 12th Avenue.

In summing up her life by autobiography the author, Adela Rogers St. John, concludes that "it is easy to look out from on top of the mountain, but the hard part is making it to the top."

A review of her autobiography "Honeycomb" was given Monday evening by Mrs. Olive Cooper Melin to about 40 local residents attending the second in a series of reviews designed to raise funds for the building fund of the Canyon City Library.

The review series is sponsored by the Canyon Federated Club Council which is headed by Mrs. Crews Henry, council chairman. Mrs. Henry introduced the reviewer and her guest, Mrs. James L. McCormick of Amarillo.

Mrs. Melin, who has reviewed books for clubs about 20 years, opened the review by giving the reasons for which "The Honeycomb" was written by Adela Rogers St. John. The book is an autobiography and took three years to write.

"In her writing the author jumps from place to place and does not believe in chronological order as she feels it boring," according to Mrs. Melin who credited this as part of the author's charm.

The author wrote a bestseller "Tell It To No Man" in 1965 and wrote "Final Verdict", a life story of her father, in 1962. The author states that she learned what love really meant from her father.

The reviewer, Mrs. Melin, read a passage from the Bible (Proverbs 24:13-14) and then gave the total review in first person as follows:

"At age 18 years she began work as a newspaper woman for Los Angeles Herald. Met and married Ike St. John. Husband left for World War I, and she and child remained in Los Angeles. Husband came home and family moved to Hollywood California where she worked for Photoplay Magazine and her father moved in with the family. (The father was an alcoholic and died shortly.)"

"She wrote movie scripts and short stories for Cosmopolitan and Good Housekeeping magazines and began to work for Hearst, a magazine magnate. While in Hollywood she interviewed the man of a thousand faces, Lon Chaney and felt he was a truly great person. She describes Tom Mix as being an eloquent person in a suit or on a horse. She stated that Tom Mix, Mack Kelley, Dayton Runyon, Jack London and own son,

Bill, and own father were people she hoped would be waiting for her at the end of the road.

"She left Hollywood and moved to Whittier, California where the grocery boy making deliveries was Dick Nixon. Then ensued marriage troubles as husband Ike was jealous, causing a divorce after two children and 15 years marriage.

"Author remarried and moved to Malibu. As the depression worsened she took a job writing a series of articles on the problems of unemployed women. While covering stories she portrayed the role of an average unemployed woman, living at Salvation Army and Christ Faith Mission, even sleeping in cars and parks and begging for food.

"The articles and pictures when published were highly criticized but as a result the unemployed women got aid and relief. The author herself became more thankful for home, food, and children.

"She then moved to Great Neck, Long Island and did stories in New York and Washington and her second husband left. She was divorced from her second husband and worked for the Washington Herald covering the third term convention of Franklin D. Roosevelt. She was most impressed with the character of Eleanor Roosevelt.

"Son, Bill, lost in World War II. Author married third husband Francis Patrick O'Tool and was divorced soon.

"Thrown in jail for a traffic violation, the author felt this was a scar on her life which she couldn't face. She felt she had hit bottom and asked God for help. Felt as if God crept into her life many times but she did not meet him herself," concluded Mrs. Melin.

The chairman, Mrs. Henry, expressed appreciation to the reviewer and reminded the group of the next review, January 12, 1970, which will be given by Mrs. Jerry Jacobs on her mother's work "Junior Dear." Both Mrs. Jacobs and her mother, Gladys Miller of Hereford, were introduced to the group at the conclusion of Monday night's review.

Dear friends,

Do not fail to investigate Social Security benefits. For example, if the deceased is covered by Social Security, a lump sum death benefit, varying from $165 to $255 is payable to the surviving husband or wife, if a member of the same household. Otherwise, this death benefit can be applied to the funeral expenses.

CCA Membership Drive Underway

The citywide membership campaign for the Canyon Community Concert Association was opened Sunday evening with a worker's dinner at the Hunsley Hills Country Club attended by about 35.

Speaking for the dinner was Lois Holler, representative of Community Concerts Association, headquartered in New York. Mrs. Holler will remain in Canyon this week to work with local CCA board members in the membership campaign and to arrange for additional concert bookings for Canyon. At the dinner, Mrs. Holler spoke to the group on the benefits of community concerts to any given community and said that "towns with community concerts are different in character and are better in caliber than non-concert towns."

"CCA membership is the greatest bargain in the USA, especially here with 24 area concerts available through the reciprocity plan," said Mrs. Holler. "People generally don't realize the privilege of CCA membership."

"These concerts are the same as those held in the largest cities of the land and through the CCA we can bring concerts like these to the small towns also," she concluded.

Southwestern Public Service Building is headquarters for the campaign and memberships are available at $10 for adults and $5 for students. CCA memberships include the three local concerts and may also be used for area concerts, at no additional charge. Headquarters may be reached by dialing 655-7411, according to Mrs. Nell Findley, membership chairman.

The CCA board will meet at the close of the campaign Saturday to make final selections of concerts to be given here. Already selected for an appearance April 26 is the Zurich Chamber Orchestra.

LOIS HOLLER, left, representative of Community Concerts Association, headquartered in New York, visits with Nell Findley, Canyon CCA membership chairman, as the new member drive began this week at the Southwestern Public Service Building.

Colorado Ram Receivers, Passers Discussed By Club

The Colorado State Rams have powerful personnel, a poor throwing quarterback and three good receivers, Coach Jim Ostrander of the West Texas State University Buffs told Touchdown Club members Monday night.

Ostrander, offensive coach for the Buffaloes, took the place of Head Coach Joe Kerbel as guest speaker at the TD club meeting.

The Ram quarterback, Chip Maxwell, is about 6'7", Ostrander said, and runs well with the ball. He said the Buffs will have their eye particularly on running back Lawrence McCutcheon, a 195-pound sophomore from Plainview.

"McCutcheon beat out their leading ground gainer last year to take over the running back slot," Ostrander said.

The offensive coach said the Rams are not a heavy team but are quick, a problem which the Buffs butted last weekend against the San Diego State Aztecs.

Offensively, the Rams play a lot of Dallas Cowboy type offense, Ostrander said, and "they do some strange things on defense."

As far as team spirit is concerned, Ostrander said "had we beat San Diego State we'd have a problem because we were up so high for that game, but as it is we can't help but improve. "I haven't seen any sign of a let down."

John Notaro, a 5-10, 220-pound defensive guard for the Buffs, was named top defensive player in last week's outing. He was in on 17 tackles during the contest against SDS.

Olan Thompson, a 197-pound halfback, was named top offensive Buff player. Although he was third leading ground gainer in the game, he is credited with tremendous blocking.

Speaking of the San Diego State game, Ostrander said "we played by far our best game on defense and second to the game with Northern Arizona, our worst game on offense."

He said the offensive line is "not exactly up to par and always seemed to break down somewhere."

During drills this week, Ostrander said the offensive coaches will work to simplify the offense in an effort to "get something down to perfection."

"I told you last week the only way we could beat San Diego was to make them work for all they got," Ostrander said. "But, we didn't do that. They threw the two long bombs."

During Monday drills, the Buffs worked out about two hours longer than usual.

"We're just going to have to change our offense and to perfect a few things so we can take advantage of the good players we have," he said.

Ostrander said the offensive line mistakes caused Buff running backs to balk "because when they hit the line, they didn't know whether anyone was going to get blocked or not."

The Buff Touchdown Club meets at 7:30 p.m. each Monday to review the past weekend's game and see a highlight film of the game. The two outstanding players from the preceding game are also introduced. The meeting is in room 201 of the University Complex South on the WTSU campus.

Eagles Ready For Hereford

The Canyon Eagles will be up for the Oct. 24 District 1-AAA opener with Hereford, members of the Eagle Booster Club were told Tuesday night by head coach Dunny Goode.

"We think our kids are real sincere about preparing for Hereford," Goode said. "We know it's their homecoming, but I think we'll be up for them."

Coach Goode made no excuses for the 12-0 loss to Panhandle last Friday other than to say the offensive blocking was unsatisfactory and the defense was not up to par, though in spots the defenders displayed their usual hardnosed tenacity.

The Eagles are 3-1-1 for the season with their district games still to be played.

Junior Varsity Coach Clark Mires told the group he had heard talk about the ferocity displayed by his team in the Dumas game.

"We don't teach dirty football, but the name of the game is hit," Mires said. "We don't tell our kids to hit just so hard in a game. When they get out there they are going to hit real hard."

Referring to a play which resulted in the Dumas kicker being seriously injured, Mires said it was "an unfortunate thing."

The Dumas player was hospitalized with a concussion, but has since recovered.

"That boy should not have been playing because he had received a concussion the previous week," Mires said. "We don't tell our boys to go out and hurt somebody, but we do want them to hit. We weren't out to get their kicker. We send somebody after the kicker on every kick-off."

"We're going to play them again up there next week and we're not going out to hurt anybody. We hope they're not either. But we're going to get after them just like we did down here. The name of the game is hit and we're going to go out and hit 'em."

Coach Goode complimented the Junior Varsity and Coach Mires by saying, "I think this is the best-drilled junior varsity I've ever seen in a high school."

The Booster Club members voted to undertake a fund-raising project by selling nylon, zip-up warmers which cover the body from the waist down. They will sell the warmers for $12 each. The sitting sacks are available through J. D. Byrd, Eural Ramsey, club president, or any club members.

Ramsey reminded the membership that there will be no meeting next Tuesday and that the Oct. 28 meeting will begin at 7 p.m. instead of 8 p.m. in honor of the Eagle varsity which will be guests of the club for a special showing of a film depicting the highlights of the 1968 collegiate football season.

80-Yard Return By M. Freeman Stuns Whites

Sparked by an 80-yard kick-off return for a touchdown by Mark Freeman, Canyon Junior High's 8th grade Purple team stunned the White team Tuesday 24-8.

Kevin Robbins contributed to the Purple's winning effort with a 35-yard touchdown run and Wayne Todd added another touchdown on a short line plunge. All of the Purple's PATs were scored on runs by Todd.

The White's only touchdown came on a 40-yard run by Jeff Carille with Ed Lair passing to Dennis Collier for the two-point conversion.

The 7th grade Purple and White teams battled to a 12-12 tie. The White team's touchdowns came on a five-yard run by Ronnie Hicks and a 65-yard kick-off return by Mario Acosta. Richard Dillehay scored both of the Purple team's touchdowns, one on a 40-yard run and the other on a 15-yard pass from Jimmy Ward.

Next Tuesday the 7th and 8th grade White teams will travel to Friona for a game beginning at 5 p.m. while the Purple 7th and 8th grade teams host Dim-

DARYL WYNN

First Time Looks Good For Wynn

BY TOMMY BRYANT

Daryl Wynn became a full-fledged collegiate football player Saturday night in Buffalo Bowl.

Not only was it the first time for the lanky red head to start a varsity game, it was also his first varsity playing time at West Texas State University.

In his debut as a starting split end for the Buffaloes Wynn caught a pair of passes from Quarterback Clarence Redic for 24 yards.

Wynn came to West Texas State as a quarterback and line-backer out of Follett, Tex., where his high school listed less than 60 students.

The 6-3, 185-pounder is in his third year at West Texas State, but was red-shirted last fall so he is listed as a sophomore. Questions and answers with Wynn:

Q--You came from a small high school. What was the biggest change for you to college football?

A--All of the players are much bigger and faster than high school players. Glenard Elmore was my only football coach until my senior year in high school. He had one assistant that season. Players are given a great deal more individual coaching on the college level as there are larger coaching staffs. I learned a great deal about our system at West Texas during my freshman year.

Q--How do you feel about catching passes rather than throwing them as you did in high school?

A--I like to catch the ball. I was only an average passer in high school.

Q--How important is concentration to a pass receiver?

A--Concentrating on the ball is probably the most important single factor in being able to catch the ball. Concentration on the ball until it is into your hands is the first step in catching a thrown ball. Then you tuck the ball away in a carrying position and finally you think about doing any running with the ball. If a receiver's concentration is deep enough he doesn't notice defenders around him.

Q--What are your strong and weak points as a split end?

A--First of all, I'm afraid there are still more weak points than strong ones. Being 6-3 gives the passer a good target. I don't have a great deal of quickness, so I work hard on moves and changes of pace. I have from 15 to 20 passes thrown at me daily during practice and between individual work with Coach (Bobby) Fox and quarterback work under coach (Joe) Kerbel, I run about 50 pass patterns daily. My pattern work is still lacking. I didn't run my patterns deep enough Saturday night.

Q--How much work did you do to make yourself a pass receiver?

A--Of course I worked during practice during my freshman year and again last year, but my roommate (sophomore Ed Holwig) is a quarterback and we worked a great deal before spring practice last year. My father, Cecil Wynn, and I were able to throw a ball some during the summer. Doing farm and ranch work kept us busy most of each day, but we would usually find some free time in the evenings. He was a fullback at Follett High School.

Q--What kind of athlete were you at Follett?

A--I played all sports-- football, basketball, baseball, tennis and ran track. I was all-district two ways in football my senior year and was a two-time all-district pick in basketball. I didn't set the world on fire with my track times.

Q--Do your pass patterns change with various defenses?

A--Our patterns aren't changed with a man-to-man defense, but the post patterns are usually eliminated with a three deep zone defense. On post patterns the wide receivers go down the field 10 yards, make an outside fake and then run to the nearest goal post. We are picked up by two different deep secondary people on the post patterns and it is difficult to complete passes in that situation.

Q--Have you ever been injured?

A--Yes, I had a shoulder separation during a scrimmage this fall, just after starting end Dick Flynn injured a knee. My shoulder is all right now, but Dick's injury was more serious and he may be lost for the season.

Q--What are your plans for the future?

A--Being an agri-business major, I would like to go into some phase of agriculture. I maintain a 1.7 grade average in college, which is about at C-plus.

Convention Invitation Extended

An invitation to hold its 1971 convention in Amarillo was extended Monday to the Texas Association of County Commissioners and Judges by Randall County Commissioners.

The Randall court will co-host the convention with Potter County Commissioners, if the invitation is accepted.

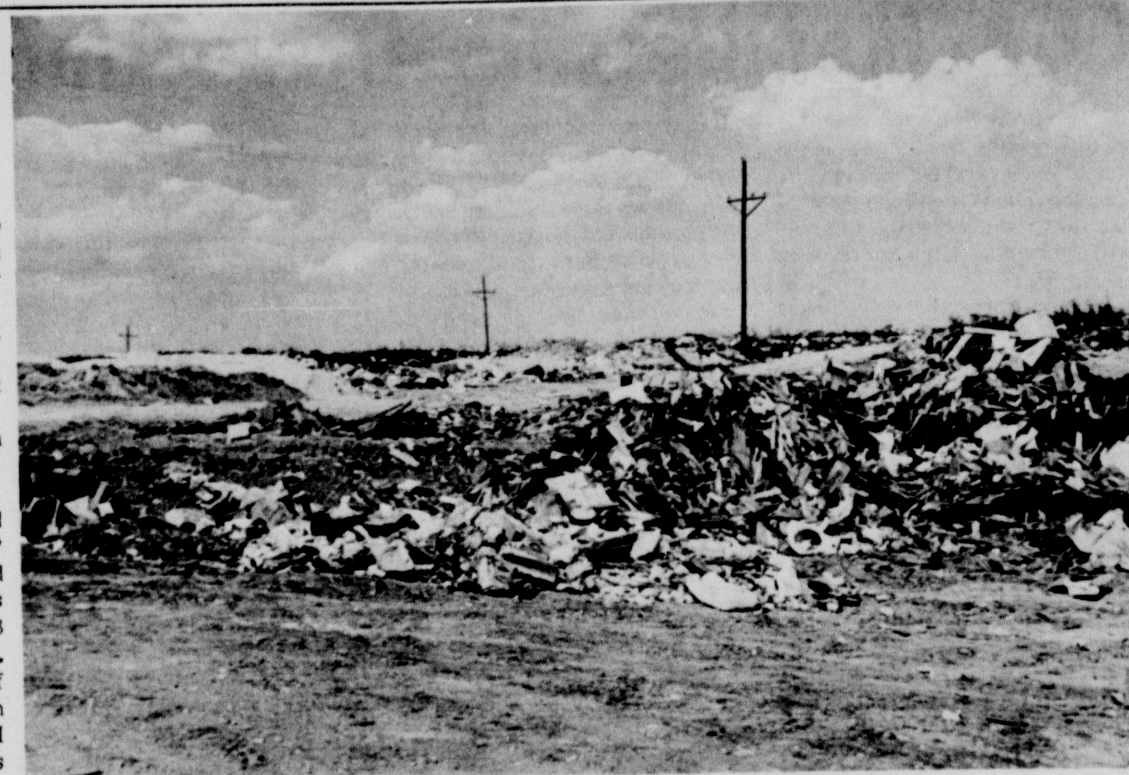

Glenn Gibson of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce asked the county court to extend the invitation. He will present both Potter and Randall resolutions to the state convention, which will be held next week in Dallas.

Gibson said the convention, if held in Amarillo, will cost the county nothing. He suggested several motels on Interstate 40 in Amarillo be used for headquarters.

Paul Ferguson, manager of the Buffalo Lake game preserve, presented commissioners with a $4,980 check from the government. The check is presented annually in lieu of taxes on the government land in the west portion of the county.

Four plats were approved by commissioners in the Lake Tanglewood area. The plats contain no county roads.

In other action, the court took action to locate the judges of the 47th and 181st District Courts in the office of Marvin Hill, district clerk. Mrs. Hill will be relocated in John Dorsey's office. Dorsey is county surveyor. Dorsey will be moved to another office on the second floor of the court-

Eagles Rest On Open Date

The Canyon Eagles have an open date this week and a chance to look back on the first half of their season--3-1-1--perhaps to glean a little wisdom from experience in preparation for the final five games--the five that count.

A week from Friday the battered gridders will play their first District 1-AAA game when they travel to Hereford. Coach Dunny Goode hopes that some of his ailing troops, who were unable to play up to full strength against Panhandle last Friday, will be back in top form in time for the confrontation with the White Faces.

"We'll go easy the first three days of this week, working out about 30 minutes each day, and then get after it Thursday and Friday with full three-hour workouts," Goode said. He said full workouts were also on tap for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week.

The Eagle coach said the injured players would be given a chance to recover fully, with their workouts confined mainly to conditioning.

Coach Goode said the absence of linebacker Ricky Hales in the Canyon was an important factor in the loss to Panhandle Friday night.

"We wouldn't have scored, but with Hales in there I don't think they would have either," Coach Goode said.

Hales, nursing a knee injury, may be ready to go in time for the Hereford contest, Goode said. Top defensive performers in the Panther, according to film grades, were John Dodson with an 88, Gary Moore with an 83, and Andy Hanson with 78. Kelly Tinsley led in tackles with nine.

Center Chris Hull and offensive guard Gary Schriber received grades of 92 for their play while offensive tackle Calvin Yarbrough got an 88.

Halfback Robert Bull, with an 85 and quarterback David Carter, 73, were tops in the offensive backfield.

The Eagles kicked the season off with a 13-6 verdict over Phillips, then faltered offensively as Olton held them to a scoreless tie. Things began to look brighter when Spearman fell 25-7, but the Eagle offense still failed to function smoothly, often driving to within scoring range, and then faltering. The next week against a tough Dalhart club, the defense once again had to carry the Eagle offense, which time and again was stopped by its own fumbles or 15-yard penalties. The defense scored one of the Eagle touchdowns with a runback of a pass interception and set up another score with a fumble recovery on the Dalhart six-yard line as Eagles won 19-8.

Then last Friday the Eagle offense all but disappeared against Panhandle and the crippled defense yielded 12 points--more than enough for a Panther victory.

Truck Driver Is Charged With Drugs

A Louisiana truck driver was arraigned Monday on charges of possession of dangerous drugs and remained in Randall County Jail late Wednesday in lieu of $500 bond.

Tommy Dee Sexton, 28, of Reston, Louisiana, was arrested about 10:30 p.m. Saturday in the northbound lane of Interstate 27 by a Highway Patrolman.

He was arraigned Monday afternoon before Randall County Judge Carroll Brown and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Ronald Boyter of the Texas Department of Public Safety said Sexton was found asleep behind the wheel of his semi truck in the middle of the northbound lane on the highway.

Boyter said the patrolman tried to awaken Sexton and was unsuccessful for several minutes but when he finally awakened he staggered into the patrol car.

A bottle of pills identified as amphetamines was found in the glove compartment of the truck.

Boyter said the pills are called "bennies," and are frequently used by truck drivers to stay awake.

The charge of possession of dangerous drugs is a major misdemeanor.

Still, all of the district games are yet to be played. The Eagles have this week and next to prepare for championship bid.

Two Charged With Burglary

Two Amarillo men charged with burglary pleaded guilty Tuesday before new 181st District Judge Don Dean.

Leonard Forkner, 28, and James Allen Lynd, 27, each was sentenced to two years in prison by Judge Dean.

The pair admitted the Sept. 24 burglary of High Plains Industries on the Canyon Expressway.

Holstein Excels In Milk Records

Palo Duro Della Roberta 6585855, a two-year-old Registered Holstein in the herd tested for Louis G. Hinders, Palo Duro Holstein Farm, Canyon, has produced a noteworthy record of 18,010 lbs. of milk and 729 lbs. of butterfat in 306 days.

The information is made available through the cooperative efforts of the state and local testing associations and Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Dairymen enrolled in the program pay for the service.

This level of production may be compared to the average U.S. dairy cow's estimated annual output of 8,821 lbs. (4,103 quarts) of milk containing 325 lbs. of butterfat. Official testing participation increases the value of the herd and provides recognition for record-breaking performance.

THE FRANKLIN LIFE

If anything ever happened to you, could your family afford to stay together? With the rising cost of living, more and more of your income is needed to provide adequate needs. Perhaps you have given up trying to pay for adequate protection for your family in case you are taken from the picture. The Franklin Home Protector was designed to meet just such a situation. For a man, age 30, look what $5.90 a month can do:

Provide an income of $100 per month for your family for 20 years from the date of the contract—those precious years when your children are growing up.
